

Communication Cabling

As faster standards and new technology trends are adopted, the demands placed on your organisation's cabling systems increase. Is your business up-to-date with these trends? And can you maximise them?

When you need to upgrade and install a new cabling system, it can be a complex and costly exercise. But with the right help and correct partners it can be made easier. Partnering with qualified cabling specialists allows you to benefit from experts who can address your cabling requirements and optimise performance.

Dimension Data Advanced Infrastructure has a proven track record of engineering Communication Cabling solutions that support your organisation's mission critical networks and business requirements. Working with your team, our professionals deliver cabling solutions for countless applications, helping your business accelerate the return on its investment.

Dimension Data's Communication Cabling solutions and services include:

- Structured cabling systems to accommodate voice, data and video.
- Intelligent cabling management solutions.
- Physical cable management.
- Data centre cabling solutions.
- Fibre solutions including outside plant and blown fibre solutions.
- Last mile access and FTTx fibre solutions.
- Registered Communication Distribution Designers (RCDD) trained to deliver according to BICSI (a global organisation promoting skills sharing for cabling manufacturers, systems integrators and other telecommunications professionals).

Dimension Data's Communication Cabling solutions offers the following benefits to your business:

Cost-effective solutions We will recommend the best fit for your requirements and budget.

Access to the latest technologies We are certified for all leading cabling products and solutions.

Future proofing We guarantee that all our solutions are equipped to handle the future adoption of newer technologies, whatever the size of your data centre – from 10GB copper & fibre, 40/100GB to parallel optics.

Support We provide after-sales support to your business, including 24/7 on-site or off-site services.

For more information about how Advanced Infrastructure can assist you from a Communication Cabling perspective, please e-mail: ai.information@dimensiondata.com