

Integrated Security Solutions

Your organisation probably has a number of different security systems providing physical security for your IT. Externally, for instance, your facilities will be protected by motion detectors and an alarm system, while internally you are safeguarded by passwords, magnetic cards and finger scans.

The trouble is, these systems have stood alone. It has not been possible to integrate them so that your defences work together in harmony.

Until recently, that is. Now your IP and physical security can be linked by your network, and your systems can work with each other, providing real-time information about your security – and possible breaches.

Dimension Data Advanced Infrastructure can help you make the most of this development. We have decades of experience in building IP networks – and in planning, building and maintaining physical infrastructure. Our Integrated Security Solutions allow you to integrate your security systems with your business systems.

Features of our Integrated Security Solutions

- Solutions that are capable of integrating your physical and logical access control, intrusion systems, video surveillance, IP surveillance, lighting control, power management and building management systems.
- We can work with your existing investment in security. Our solutions can leverage your existing cabling, analogue and IP devices, IP CCTV and IP Telephony.
- We can migrate your security from analogue to hybrid analogue, and from digital to full IP-based deployments.
- A graphical user interface provides central control of all physical security devices.
- We provide centralised power management to improve resilience and down time. No specialist electrical skills are required.

Benefits of our Integrated Security Solutions

- You will gain secure access to your information with a broad range of devices.
- Managing your security systems will become easier, reducing your Total Cost of Ownership.
- Your organisation will be able to deal proactively with security compliance issues.
- Your improved real-time threat response will reduce the cost of security incidents.

We believe the most effective solutions start with a simple assessment. If you would like us to visit your premises and to tell you more about Integrated Security Solutions, please e-mail: ai.information@dimensiondata.com
